Washington, February 23.—Organized labor hurled a defy toward the industrial court system, advocated a flat refusal on the part of labor to recognize or abide by the terms of injunctions, and denounced the so-called open shop movement in a declaration and appeal to the American people issued Monday.

Enactment by congress of a law declaring that labor organizations are not co-partnerships and "shall not be so treated in law or in equity" was demanded in a declaration of principles adopted tonight by representatives of national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The declaration which was approved after an all day conference here at which Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, presided, also called for the "immediate restoration of exemption from or the repeal of all anti-combination and so-called conspiracy laws."

Condemning the use of the injunction under present laws, the declaration asserted that the "immediate course" through which labor could find relief "lies in a flat refusal on the part of labor to recognize or abide by the terms of injunctions which seek to prohibit the doing of acts which the workers have a lawful and guaranteed right to do."

"Labor realizes fully the consequences of such a course," it was added, "but in the defense of American freedom and of American institutions it is compelled to adopt this course, be the consequences what they may."

Principles Defended

Organized labor in the declaration sets forth at length the principles for which it stands and calls upon the people of the United States to rally with labor "to the defense of our imperiled American institutions."

Employers are warned in the declaration that labor "not only insists upon maintaining the present standards of wages and working conditions but declares its solemn purpose to continue its struggle to further improve those standards."

The declaration charged "some employers" in the United States with supporting "at times in secret" some of the "ignominious propaganda of radical European fanaticism" because of their "common antagonism to the trade union movement."

"There is an unscrupulousness and a natural attitude for intrigue in this fanatical propaganda," the statement said, "which makes it a most subtle menace to every democratic ideal and institution in our country."

Famous Camera Man Makes Pictures for Ince to View — Enthusiastic Over Georgia Showing.

With the beautiful Druid Hills Golf club furnishing the background for the setting and the natural romantic picturequeness of the grounds, the actual scenery, the five girls who will present the claims of Georgia to furnish the Ince film of 1921 as a result of The Constitution-Ince contest yesterday faced the movie camera for the first time.

James G. Buchanan, famous Pictorial cameraman, who accompanied President Wilson to the peace conference at Paris and who has recently been attached to the Harding entourage in Florida made the movies, which will be screened before Thomas H. Ince in person and from which he will make his final selection of the beauty who is to receive his personal tutelage for six months and then be tendered a career of stardom.

Would Be Welcomed.

Mr. Buchanan is fairly blasé when it comes to beauty, but he wasn't blasé Wednesday morning. He was professedly enthusiastic in his opinion of the screen possibility of the five girls who appeared before the lens of his camera. "The girl who wins over anyone of these five" he declared "will certainly be the greatest find the screen has known, for I know that any of these girls would be more than welcomed in any studio. I've never seen more natural, unaffected beauties. I have never photographed girls who had more unstudied grace and poise under the unusual

X-COUNTRY MAIL RECORD IS MADE

San Francisco-to-Hazlehurst, N. Y., Hop Completed in 33 Hours and 20 Minutes.

Hazlehurst, N. Y., February 23.—Eight bags of mail, dispatched from San Francisco by airplane at 4:30 yesterday morning, arrived at Hazlehurst Field here today at 4:50 p. m., establishing a crosscountry record of 23 hours and 20 minutes, with allowance for time zone changes in the coast to coast flight.

The mail was transferred from plane to plane in a relay flight ordered by the post office department to establish a new cross-country mail plane record. The plane which arrived at Hazlehurst, was piloted by E. M. Allison, a member of one of the four teams which took part in the transcontinental race, two planes leaving Hazlehurst and two starting from San Francisco at the same time yesterday morning.

One of the westward bound planes came to grief when Pilot E. M. Leonard was forced to descend yesterday at Dubuque, Ia., on account of bad weather. The second westbound plane reached Chicago yesterday and was then taken over by the first plane, which was piloted by E. M. Allison. The plane which arrived at Hazlehurst, was piloted by E. M. Allison, a member of one of the four teams which took part in the transcontinental race, two planes leaving Hazlehurst and two starting from San Francisco at the same time yesterday morning.

Kidnaping Cases End With Return Of Two Children

Elaine Ruth Davidson, Young Dancer, Is Found in Birmingham.

The two Atlanta children whose kidnaping was reported to the police Tuesday, were both safely back with their families last night, none the worse for their adventures. They are Elaine Ruth Davidson, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davidson, of 815 North Forsyth street, and Richard Griswold, 13 years old, the son of L. W. Griswold, of 125 West Ponce de Leon avenue.

The Davidson girl was found in Birmingham, Ala., by the police of that city, and was brought back to her home by her father, who went to Birmingham on Wednesday. Employees of the Terminal Station had seen her crying just before she took the train to Birmingham, and she explained that she was going to be met by her mother when the train reached that city. Her father told the police that he believed she had been lured or taken from this city by George Karr, of 355 Angus avenue.

Father Is Silent.

Mr. Davidson refused last night to explain how he had found his daughter, and declined to discuss the case, except to say she was home again. He told the police he believed Karr had influenced his daughter by promising her a stage career, taking advantage of her talent for dancing, which she had from an early age. He said he had frequently revealed in this city.

Elaine left her home Tuesday and did not return to her family. Her father, who had been notified by the police of her disappearance, and her mother told them her husband found her in the hands of a stranger. He said that the two families had been acquainted for a year, and that Karr had made frequent efforts to persuade Elaine to go on the stage.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, though actors themselves, did not wish their child to go on the stage, they said. They gave her the best instruction in dancing, however, and she developed marked ability.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR ACID TOSSER

Mother of Mrs. Gladys Presnell Takes Court Action Against Mrs. Nell Goodman Rolander.

Declaring that she had felt outraged by the reduction of the bond of Mrs. Nell Goodman Rolander and that the reducing of the charge against her to one of disorderly conduct was a travesty on justice, Mrs. A. L. Lackey, mother of Mrs. Gladys Presnell, victim of Mrs. Rolander's attack, with carbolic acid at the Strand theatre a few days ago, yesterday swore out a warrant charging Mrs. Rolander with assault with intent to murder.

The warrant was sworn out in the municipal court, but Wednesday night it had not been served.

According to J. Walter LeCraw, attorney retained by Mrs. Lackey, the parents of Mrs. Presnell are determined to press the charges to the limit.

"We will attempt to show" said attorney LeCraw "that the attack on Mrs. Presnell was entirely unjustified, that it was the act of a woman, vindictively jealous without cause, that Mrs. Presnell not only suffered untold tortures by having the acid thrown in her face, but that her eyesight will be permanently impaired if not altogether ruined."

"Mrs. Presnell's parents consider that the disorderly conduct charge, which would permit Mrs. Rolander's discharge with a fine of nominal proportions, is in no way in keeping with the gravity of the offense and we therefore took the step of bringing the matter into the state courts."

Poole Suspends Two Detectives After Conviction

Defendants Are Given 12 Months and Fines of One Thousand Dollars.

Lon Terry and Omar Howell, city detectives, who were convicted in the superior court last Wednesday morning with Griff Freeman, on the charge of having liquor in their possession, were suspended from the force by Chief of Detectives Lamar Poole following the trial. The police board is expected to take action on the cases of the two men at the next meeting. Solicitor John A. Boykin prosecuted the cases, assisted by Assistant Solicitor E. A. Stephens.

Following the conviction of the three men by a jury, Judge John D. Humphries sentenced them to serve twelve months each on the chain gang and to pay a fine of $1,000.

They were released under bonds of $2,500 each, pending the hearing of their motion for a new trial, which was set for March 5. J. W. Maddox, chairman of the police commission, signed the bonds of the two detectives, while O. W. Allen, one of the witnesses for the defense, went on Freeman's bond.

It was claimed by the state that Griff Freeman arranged with Clarence Hart for the purchase of some whiskey and that the former then got the two policemen to steal the whiskey under the guise of confiscating it, and that they did not turn in all of the whiskey at the police station.

The three men were indicted on two counts, one of stealing whiskey, $75 worth, the property of Clarence Hart, and the second of having liquor in their possession. Judge Humphries ruled that no prosecution can be instituted under the state law for larceny of whiskey since liquor has no legal status under the state of federal law, it can not be claimed to have property rights. He held that a charge of violating the prohibition law could be sustained should it be proven that they had the liquor in their possession.

Judge Humphries, in passing sentence, declared that for two officers of the law flagrantly to violate their public trust was an offense not to be condoned.

Attorneys J. Carroll Latimer, Sam Hewlett and Harvey Hill represented the defendants.

The case of Howell, Terry and Freeman was attracted much attention. The two officers were excused at a probe of the police commission and during the trial of the men, which lasted for the past three days in the state court, they had the support of the chief of detectives and the chairman of the commission.

ATLANTA R. O. T. C. CORPS WILL TELL BOND ISSUE NEED

Glaring Posters and Martial Airs Will Help Advertise Movement for Bigger and Better City.

Atlanta will be stirred to a new pitch of enthusiasm for the proposed bond issue Friday morning when the combined units of the reserve officers' training corps of the three Atlanta high schools will pass in parade through the heart of the business district, with glaring posters proclaiming to the citizenry the advantage of bonds, and with three military bands blaring martial airs.

The parade was announced Wednesday by the bond campaign committee. Members of the R. O. T. C. units of the Tech High school, Boys High school and the Fulton High school will participate, and the bands of Tech High, Fulton High and Georgia Tech will furnish music.

Other developments of the day were indorsements of the bond drive at three mass meetings, one at the Williams street school in the sixth ward; another at the home of George W. Cooper, in the second ward; and the third at a gathering of ninth ward citizens at the chamber of commerce.

1,500 Cadets to March.

Fifteen hundred cadets will march in the parade, which will be commanded by Lieutenant Colonel James M. Little, commandant of the R. O. T. C. units. In the high schools, and will be preceded by an escort of mounted policemen.

The procession will form at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning at Peachtree and Baker streets and will swing in to movement promptly at 11 o'clock. The line of march will be along Peachtree and Whitehall to Mitchell street, up Mitchell to Broad, along Broad to Marietta street, thence out North Forsyth to Luckie street, where the parade will disband.

Lucien York, a member of the campaign advisory board, is in charge of details of the parade. Prizes will be given for the best banners borne by the cadets, who are preparing scores of striking legends.

Williams Street Rally.

Mayor Key, chairman, Frank H. Inman, Mrs. J. K. Otley, and Professor W. A. Sutton were speakers at the Williams street rally. M. H. Abbott, chairman of the sixth ward bond committee, presided. A poll of the meeting showed more than fifty per cent of the voters registered since January 1, and by a vote the remainder expressed their intention to qualify before March 5.

Atlanta Voters Warned Against Campaign of Misrepresentation In Regard to Big Bond Issue

Warning against anonymous opposition and misinformation to beat the bond issue is sounded in a card signed by Frank M. Inman, chairman of the bond campaign. This is the first of a series of statements, covering all features of the bond issue, which the campaign committee will furnish to the newspapers.

The statement follows:

"We are informed that the opponents of the bond issue will launch their attack in the next few days in the form of anonymous advertisements in the newspapers."

"There is nothing anonymous on our side of this campaign. Every man and woman at work for the bonds is out in the open. Instead of concealment, they are proud to be connected with a movement which means so much for the growth and upbuilding of Atlanta."

"We urge the people to be on guard against misinformation. We urge every citizen who has not thoroughly satisfied himself, or herself, on this bond issue proposition, to do so at once. Every fact connected with it is open to searching

Gold Claim Staked In Heart of Denver By Old Prospectors

Denver, Colorado, February 23.—Peter Noonan and William Wickert today recorded a gold claim in the heart of the city of Denver. In the ground beneath the territory containing the city hall, the Union station and a great part of the business district the men allege they have struck a rich find of gold.

"We dug these out of the heart of Denver," they explained, "and claim the ore bodies from which they came by right of discovery. We want the ore and our claims recorded."

Later they presented the proper papers.

Woman Who Based Claim on Courtship Gets $25,000 Verdict

Memphis, Tenn., February 23.—Miss Mollie Quirk of Milwaukee, who in support of her claim to a $50,000 share in the estate of the late Patrick Kallagher, Memphis land owner, detailed a courtship extending over two decades and cited an alleged agreement that she was to inherit the bulk of his fortune, was awarded $25,000 by a jury in federal district court here today.

AMERICAN NOTE IS COMMUNICATED TO WORLD COUNCIL

Gathering Decides on Permanent Commission to See to Proper Control Administration

SEAT ON COMMISSION TO BE OFFERED U. S.

American Document Is Transmitted to Their Governments by Delegates at London Meet.

Paris, February 23.—The American note respecting the disposition and control of mandates over dependent nations was communicated directly to Acting President Dacunha, of the league of nations council, by Secretary Gordon, of the American embassy. Ambassador Wallace sent with it a note explaining that it was impossible for him to transmit it personally, at the opening of the council.

Owing to the length of the document—eight typewritten pages—it was decided not to read it at once, but to order it translated. The translations were distributed in the afternoon.

The communication opens with an outline of America's attitude on mandates generally, and reaffirms the right of the United States to be consulted upon them before any action is taken.

Includes Protest.

Enclosure is made of the American note to Lord Curzon as embodying the United States protest against the Mesopotamia mandate, and finally files a specific protest against the action of the mandate over the island of Yap.

Pending distribution of copies of the translation Wednesday afternoon, the council decided upon forming a permanent commission, whose duty it shall be to see that the mandates are properly administered. This commission will file an annual report with the league of each nation under mandate.

The commission will be composed of members from England, France, Belgium and Japan, each of which is a mandatory power, and Portugal, Italy, Holland and Sweden, which are non-mandatory powers. A ninth place on the commission was left open purposely, designed to be offered to the United States. If America declines the post, it probably will go to Poland. The Swedish committee is composed of a woman, whose work will be to see that the rights of women and children in mandated countries are protected.

Attitude of Members.

Members of the council are still firm in their attitude on Class C mandates, among which is the island of Yap, which was awarded last December. The rap incident is considered closed, America not having protested at the time of the award. The only answer in which the council is engaged, in the opinion of many delegates, is on the grounds that the league acted on misinformation.

The council will take no action regarding the mandate of the island of Yap, until after the supreme council meeting in London, which is expected in the United States is interested in the Class B mandates, which consist of the former German colonies in Africa.

Note Forwarded.
Members of the council consider it necessary to confer with their governments regarding the American note and, with this in view, they forwarded the text today. It is, therefore, considered unlikely that any decision will be reached at this session. It was suggested this afternoon that the whole matter might be referred to the supreme council, as it is declared that it was in reality that body which attributed Yap along with other northern Pacific islands to Japan, and this was the principal point raised in Secretary Colby's note.

Further than this, it is expected that the council will merely acknowledge receipt of the note and give assurance that it will be dealt

The council of the league of nations decided Wednesday to give out only a summary of the American note regarding mandates under the league, the text of which was submitted to the council this morning.

Summary follows:
"The government of the United States hereby, it is declared, gives out only a summary of the American note regarding mandates under the league, the text of which was submitted to the council this morning."

Copied to Nations.
A copy of that note has been sent to the French and Italian governments. The United States government draws the attention of the council to the request made in that note that the projects of mandate intended for the society of nations be approved by the council of the league of nations, which text was approved by the council of the league of nations in Geneva.

The United States government has received the text of the mandate attributed to the Emperor of Japan over all former German islands situated in the Pacific ocean north of the equator, which text was approved by the council of the league of nations in Geneva.

The United States government declares it has never given its consent that the island of Yap be included in territories subjected to the mandate of Japan.

Cable Situation.
"It recalls that it has already so informed the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, informing them at the same time that its reservation rested upon the opinion that Yap enters necessarily into any project or system of practical communication by cable in the Pacific and that no power can limit or control its use."

The United States government is moved to declare respectfully that it cannot regard it as bound by the terms of said mandate and desires particularly that note be taken of its protest against the decision of the league council of December 17 upon this question.

"At the same time it asks the council, whose action resulted evidently from an incorrect representation of the facts, to submit the question to a new investigation which an equitable solution requires."

TUMULTUOUSLY IS TENDERED BOUNDARY BODY PLACE

President's Secretary Declines to Discuss Possibility of Acceptance of Job.

Washington, February 23.—Joseph R. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, has been offered the job of American commissioner on the international boundary commission of the United States and Canada. It is reliably learned.

Tumulty, however, declined to discuss the possibility of his appointment, although it was indicated the post had been discussed between him and President Wilson. According to information reaching the United States, President Wilson has already submitted Tumulty's name through the state department. E. C. Barnard, who has been the American commissioner, recently died.

The job pays $7,500 yearly. Confirmation of the president's appointment by the senate is not necessary, as in virtually all other appointments. It is understood the duties of the commissioner are not so burdensome that they would interfere with the law practice Tumulty plans to establish after March 4.

The duty of the international commission which exists by virtue of treaties between the United States and Great Britain, is to determine boundary lines in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river. Tumulty previously had been offered the job of judge of the United States court of customs appeals, but he declined to accept.

INJUNCTIONS DEFIANCE HURLED BY LABOR

commonly known open port law of Texas, was demanded, together with "freedom from decisions of courts holding trade unions and individual members thereof liable in damages for the unlawful acts of others."

Other recommendations made by the conference in the declaration included:

Prohibition of immigration for a period of not less than two years.

More general application of the initiative and referendum in the political affairs of the United States and of the states.

Power of Courts.
Removal of the power of courts to declare unconstitutional laws enacted by congress.

Election of judges; Restoration of an adequate federal employment service; Administration of credit as a public trust in the interest of all the people;

Investigation by congress of the activities of private detective agencies in the field of industrial relations;

The declaration called upon the workers to "resist the efforts to destroy the trade unions, whether by the false pretense of the 'open shop' or the usurped authority of courts through writs of injunction, or otherwise."

"We call for united support in the protection of standards of wages and conditions already gained," the declaration added, "and we summon the workers to continued efforts to increase the consuming power, raise the standards and improve the conditions of life and work."

Open Shop Scored.
The "open shop" movement was declared to be a campaign for "shop that shall be closed to union workmen, and primarily a campaign designed to destroy trade unions and to break down and to eliminate the whole principle of collective bargaining."

Alleged unscrupulous financial speculation and profiteering were vigorously denounced in the declaration, which said that the "unscrupulous profiteers of finance are now broadening their field and enriching themselves by squeezing both the producer and the consumer."

"It is astounding but true," the declaration continued, "that even after so great a lapse of time since the ending of hostilities, there is, so far as the average citizen is concerned, practically no reduction in the high cost of living. It is admitted freely that in some commodities there has been no appreciable reduction in the retail prices at which the working people must make their purchases."

Scores Profiteers.
"We declare again that the government has been and continues impotent in the face of the criminal operations of profiteers, and must, therefore, accept the responsibility for a great portion of the indignation and resentment of the people against those who have enriched their pockets for no reason except that they have had the power to do so."

The present state of unemployment described as depriving fully three and one-half million working people of the opportunity to earn a living was declared due to the "maladministration of industry and principally because of the studied and calculated arbitrary policies of reactionary employers."

"Every reduction of wages is a reduction in the consuming power of the wage-earner," it was stated, "and a direct blow at the prosperity and well-being of the country."

Employers Blamed.
Through the establishment of industrial courts, the employers were charged with "seeking to inject into American industrial life a device through which they may annul constitutional guarantees and deprive workers of freedom and of the right to function through their organizations."

"These instruments," it was added, "serve to create in industry a disharmony which inevitably must result in a chaotic industrial condition and consequent loss of production."

"It should be the purpose of the government to properly stimulate our industrial processes, continued the document. 'It should be the purpose of government to make voluntary negotiation more easily entered into. If, on the other hand, all of the safeguards set up in our constitutional legal structure for the protection of workers are to be destroyed by judicial construction as the vitality of the Clayton act has been destroyed, then labor demands the immediate repeal of all that body of laws known as 'anti-combination and conspiracy laws.'"

Ask Public Support.
The conference also asked for public support and recognition of: "The right of the working people of the United States to organize into trade unions for the protection of their rights and interests."

"The right to and practice of collective bargaining by trade unions through representatives of their own choosing."

"The right to work and to cease work collectively."

The declaration in conclusion urged enactment of federal legislation which shall protect the workers in their organized capacity against the concept that there is a property right in the labor of a human being.

Probe of Denial Of Pen Privileges To Debs Promised

Interview Attacking Wilson the Cause of Present Discipline.

Washington, February 23.—Visiting and mail privileges of Eugene V. Debs, a prisoner in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, were temporarily suspended as a disciplinary measure because of an interview he gave to the press in which the president of the United States was attacked. D. S. Dickerson, chief of the division of prisoners of the department of justice, said today.

Suspension of these privileges for infraction of rules is not unusual, Mr. Dickerson declared, and in Debs' case it probably will be lifted within a week.

Debs is serving a ten year sentence for violation of the espionage laws and President Wilson has twice refused to commute his sentence or grant a pardon.

Will Investigate.
When the attention of white house officials was called today to reports that Debs was being held incommunicado, they said they had not known of it before and that an investigation would be made.

Mr. Dickerson said that during the political campaign last fall the department of justice felt that since Debs was a candidate for president he should be allowed to make known the principles of the socialist party through authorized interviews. Press representatives who interviewed him, were requested to eliminate all seditious or inflammatory utterances. This confidence, he added, was at no time abused.

The interview which caused the suspension of Debs' privilege was given to an attorney who had called upon him on a pretext of business, Mr. Dickerson continued, adding that Debs knowingly violated the rules of the prison in giving it.

Mr. Dickerson assumed responsibility for the order, which he said was issued by the regular prison division of the prisons and did not require the attention of the attorney general.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.
Washington, February 23.—There are good reasons to believe that the order of Governor Dickerson restricting the privileges in the Atlanta penitentiary of Eugene V. Debs will be rescinded by President Wilson. Governor Dickerson is supposed to have been placed upon the order in question was prepared by Mrs. Annette Abbott Adams, assistant secretary of the department of justice. Attorney General Palmer was not consulted by Mrs. Adams before sending the order to the superintendent of prisons for his signature, although he will not personally take any steps other than to sustain his assistant, unless directed to do so by the president.

It is known, however, that the matter is now under investigation by the white house, and the statement is made that if any undue restrictions have been placed upon the prisoner for no other reason than the published statements attributed to him, the regular prison division of the prisons will be quickly restored to him.

Debs' Statement.
The statement of Eugene Debs referred to is one given out by the socialist leader, February 12, after his arrest. Wilson had denied the communication of the prisoner's sentence.

In the statement, given out through his local attorney, Samuel General Palmer was not consulted by Mrs. Adams before sending the order to the superintendent of prisons for his signature, although he will not personally take any steps other than to sustain his assistant, unless directed to do so by the president.

It is known, however, that the matter is now under investigation by the white house, and the statement is made that if any undue restrictions have been placed upon the prisoner for no other reason than the published statements attributed to him, the regular prison division of the prisons will be quickly restored to him.

IN MOTHER'S DEFENSE, CHILD KILLS FATHER

Philadelphia, February 23.—Elizabeth Mabel Lance, 15 years old, stabbed her father to death today, defending her mother, police say, during a quarrel between her parents. The father, Edgar M. Lance, 37, died almost instantly. A formal charge of murder has been laid against the girl and the mother is held as a witness.

According to the girl, the police say, her father was choking her mother.

$10,000 IS GIVEN TO AID CHILDREN

Full Amount Would Have Been Subscribed Except for Lack of Workers, It Is Stated.

Wednesday, the third day of the Lions club-Georgia Children's Home society $40,000 expansion campaign, swelled the total fund so far subscribed to the $10,000 mark.

The day's work by the Lions and other canvassers as the best so far recorded. At the 5 o'clock gathering of all the forces at the chamber of commerce Wednesday afternoon, J. R. Smith, president of the Lions, promised a "big surprise" for the near future.

The entire quota of $40,000 would already be in hand except for lack of enough supporters to call on enough Atlantans is the unanimous opinion of the leaders in the civic welfare movement.

"One of my teams spent the entire day canvassing and met with not one single refusal," said Lion P. Thornton, chairman of Zone No. 2, whose committee now leads the drive with contributions of $4,355.46. Another of Lion Mary's teams met with one cold reception.

Lowry Arnold, secretary, and a director of the Georgia Children's Home society, stirred the meeting to enthusiastic applause by his account of the generous response encountered along Produce Row and in that vicinity.

Still more enthusiasm was aroused at the afternoon meeting by Chairman William Candler's announcement that more than seventy-five women's auxiliary for Ormeau Court, the state receiving home of the society in Atlanta, had recently been organized.

The standings of the four zone committees Wednesday afternoon follows:

Zone No. 1, Lion William H. Spratlin, chairman; J. M. Tuill, vice chairman, $2,047.50.

Zone No. 2, P. Thornton, chairman, $4,355.46.

Zone No. 3, Joseph Freitag, chairman; George Watts, vice chairman, $1,051.50.

Zone No. 4, Walter Keenan, chairman; Omar P. Boehm, vice chairman, $2,352.50.

Georgia Aviator Killed as Plane Crashes to Earth

E. E. Allen, of Columbus, and Companion Meet Death on Texas Field.

Austin, Texas, February 23.—Cadets E. E. Allen and Virgil W. Beech, both of Kelly field No. 2, San Antonio, were instantly killed this morning when their plane crashed on Penn field, one mile south of Austin, as they were taking off in it for San Antonio.

Allen's home is in Columbus, Ga., and that of Beech at Nashville, Tenn. They were leading a seven-day formation which left Kelly field early today for practice flight. The plane had just left the ground and attained a height of about 500 feet, when it crashed to the ground. Persons who witnessed the fall said that both men could be seen making frantic efforts to right the plane.

The gasoline tank exploded when the plane struck the ground, and the plane was destroyed by the fire that followed. The bodies of both men were badly burned and their skulls crushed.

The charred body of a dog which the aviators had picked up before taking off was found pressed between the bodies of the two men.

Columbus, Ga., February 23.—Cadet Earl Eugene Allen, who was killed near Austin, Texas, today, had recently passed all examinations in the air service, was a full graduate of the aerial schools and was slated to become a lieutenant next month. It was planned to send him to the Mexican border for patrol duty as soon as he received his commission.

Young Allen, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Allen, 331 Eighteenth street, was only eighteen years old. He was married three months ago in San Antonio to an Oklahoma girl, and his parents attended the wedding ceremony at the home of the bride.

HOUSTON STREET PAVING IS URGED

A movement to pave Houston street from the Candler building to Highland avenue, or Moreland avenue, which has already received the endorsement of the council street committee, is being revived and pushed with vigor by the property owners on that important thoroughfare.

In addition to a number of improvements, such as the remodeling of the Leland hotel, which is being done by Wade Davis, there are many other building projects expected to develop on Houston street. The work on the Leland hotel, which is being done with a view toward making one of the up-to-date hotels of the city, will cost between $75,000 and $100,000. The hotel, when completed will be taken over by Manager Anderson, who is in charge of the Marion. The paving of Houston, which has been passed up by the street committee of the city council, is being backed by Wade Davis, C. W. McClure and other prominent property owners and when the work is completed, as it is expected to be within the coming summer, a fine artery of travel will be provided from the Highland avenue section to the center of the city. The property owners are also seeking to revive the project of extending the street into Peachtree street, at the Candler building, running Houston street into James street, thereby affording another cross-town artery that would be distinctly valuable to passengers who wish to get from Houston to Williams and Orme street section by a direct line.

This project was put forward shortly after the big fire that swept a large portion of the northeast section of the city, and the present need for the extension being even greater than at that time. It is expected that a vigorous fight will be made to put the project over.

Witness Paints Graphic Picture Of Matewan Fight

Brewer Tells Jury of Seeing
Sid Hatfield Shoot
Detective.

Williamson, W. Va., February 23.

Testimony by Isaac Brewer, a former defendant in the Matewan shooting case, featured the trial today of the nineteen men who were indicted on charges of being implicated in the killing of Baldwin-Felts, detective in the battle at the little mountain town. Charges against Brewer in connection with the case were dismissed recently and reports had been current that he would turn state's evidence.

The witness testified that a short time before the battle started he met Sid Hatfield, chief of police of Matewan, and one of the defendants. The police chief suggested to him, Brewer added, that they "get a bunch of men and go into the hills and kill those Baldwin men as they come out of the hotel."

When the battle started, Brewer said, he was in a hardware store in front of which Mayor Testerman and C. V. Cunningham, a private detective, were in the doorway, the witness said, adding that Sid Hatfield, who was in the doorway, said to him, "Let's kill every one of them."

Brewer said he stepped back and drew his pistol after being wounded. "I was shot again in the hand as I got my pistol out."

SEEK TO ORGANIZE FINE ASSOCIATION OF MATEWAN FIGHT

Charges Conspiracy to Curtailed Lumber Supply
and to Increase Prices.
Hearing Date Set.

St. Louis, February 23.—Charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, the government today filed in federal court here an indictment against the Southern Pine Association, 61 corporations and individuals.

Granting of a permanent injunction for the purposes specified in the indictment, which was a result of profits on sales of yellow pine advanced from $4.41 a thousand feet in 1913 to $20.35 in 1920.

The suit alleges the association has operated to curtail production to enhance prices, and that as a result profits on sales of yellow pine advanced from $4.41 a thousand feet in 1913 to $20.35 in 1920.

The suit was filed by District Attorney Carroll, in compliance with instructions from Attorney General Palmer, and is based on report of the federal trade commission, which investigated activities of the association.

The judge said that the indictment is a "very serious one" and that the government is "entitled to a full and complete hearing."

FARMERS IN SUMTER
PLAN LARGE HOG SALE

Americus, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—The first farmers' cooperative sale will be held at the new Leslie hog pen Wednesday, March 2, with County Farm Demonstration Agent George O. Marshall in charge. These pens have only recently been completed, and arrangements have been perfected whereby a number of local country farmers will market their meat hogs at Leslie's. It is expected 200 or more hogs will be offered in the initial sale.

AFTER ANY ILLNESS THE
BLOOD IS WEAK

If You Get Well Slowly, Try Building Up Your Blood

IT'S BLOOD THAT FEEDS THE BODY

Pepto-Mangan Creates Rich, Red Blood, Changes Pale Complexions to Bloom of Health

A serious illness, even a cold that is hard to shake off, can reduce the blood to a weak, watery condition which keeps the normal strength and vigor from coming back. This poor physical condition brings on a helpless, discouraged mental condition which rich, red blood can restore. Pure blood should be rich in iron which Nature supplies to the blood. But often through faulty digestion or improper diet you don't get the needed iron, and your blood, on which your health depends, grows weaker and weaker. Gude's Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood, increases the red blood cells and supplies the ingredients that bring a quick response in vigor, vitality and fine color. Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan. When you order, be sure the word "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan. Furnished in both liquid and tablet form. For sale by all druggists.—(adv.)

POWER OF BOARD
SUBJECT OF CLASH

Erie Officials Imply They Will Not Obey "Impossible Orders"—Labor Men Reply Sharply.

Chicago, February 23.—Sharp contention over the powers of the United States railroad labor board and the provisions of the transportation act marked the hearing of employees of the Erie railroad against their employers before the board today. The petition of the employees charged violation of the act and of decisions of the labor board. The representatives of the board denied both. The case resulted from an order, effective February 1, reducing common labor wages and deducting one day's pay each week from the salaries of all employees paid on a monthly basis. Most of the argument centered about whether a ruling of the board on February 12 ordering the road to make no change in wages rates was compulsory upon the road which had already put a reduction into effect. It was conceded by the rail representatives that the intent of the order was to maintain the rates of the wage award of July, 1920. They denied, however, violation of the law in changing these rates. Business depression and revenues below expenses were given as the reason for the reduction order. During his testimony, R. S. Parsons, general manager for the road, was asked by Henry T. Hunt, public member of the board, whether the road's position meant that it would not obey the orders of the board.

Board's Attitude

"We can't do it," Mr. Parsons replied. "We want to do everything possible to go along with the board, but I don't know what we would do if the board issued impossible orders." Samuel Adams, attorney for the Erie railroad, explained the road's attitude on the transportation act from the legal standpoint and denied the power of the board to continue the rates of its decision number two, (July, 1920) until a hearing had been held and a decision reached. He questioned the enforcement powers of the board and declared its powers were confined to the establishment of just and reasonable wages.

This sweeping denial of authority in the hands of the board brought from U. S. Branton, attorney for the employees, a denunciation of the railroad's stand. The declaration that if there was no authority to enforce the board's decisions, as claimed by the railroad, the employees "would endeavor to find a way to make the Erie pay."

March 1 Will Be
Luckiest of Days
For Pedestrians

Thousands of Autoists Will Be Obligated to Put Cars in Garage.

March 1 is likely to be pedestrians' day in Atlanta, when street walking will be able to make schedules through the center of town; when children may play in safety in the streets; and when the fire department will be able to make record runs, unimpeded in their progress by the usual jam of numerous motor cars.

The reason for this promised Utopia for pedestrians is the fact that less than 2,000 of the more than 9,000 automobile owners in Atlanta have secured 1921 auto tags from the office of secretary of state and because on the first of next month only those who have new tags on their cars will be allowed to operate.

With 20,000 or more tags to issue, to Atlanta alone, between now and March 1, and with thousands to make out for owners in other parts of the state, the office of the secretary of state Guy M. McDaniel will not only be taxed to the uttermost, but to issue the number of tags required is considered a physical impossibility. And positive announcement made that there will be no extension of time in allowing the use of old tags, so that those who have not obtained them by the first of March will have to leave their cars in the garage or subject themselves to arrest.

LIFE INSURANCE
MEN OF GEORGIA
MEET MARCH 28

A congress of all Georgia's life insurance men in Atlanta March 28 is being called by invitations being mailed out by the Atlanta Association of Life Insurers, who are fostering the movement. A committee from the local organization, which is headed by William E. Duncanson, met in the Chamber of Commerce building Wednesday and formulated plans for the entertainment of the conference. Hugh M. Willett, chairman of the special committee, presided.

The members of the local association wish to stress the fact that the meeting is for the life insurers in general and not for the members of any particular association or organization. Among the prominent visitors who will attend the gathering in March are Orville Thorpe, of the National Association of Life Underwriters, and Charles M. Scoville, known nationwide as an expert on insurance salesmanship.

HOSPITAL CHARGE
UNFOUNDED, GOOD

3,858 Empty Beds in Government Hospitals, He Says—Challenges LaPorte's Contention.

Washington, D. C., February 23.—Charges that the government fails to provide adequate hospital facilities for wounded and sick war veterans are unjustified, Chairman Good, of the appropriations committee, declared today on the floor of the house. Critics of Congress, he asserted, presented contentions and executive departments entrusted with the care of disabled former soldiers have not made use of facilities provided.

"There are 3,858 empty beds in government hospitals today that could be utilized," Mr. Good declared. He challenged statements of Ewing LaPorte, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of public health, that hospital facilities were inadequate and said he didn't know "why a young man about 26 years old down in the treasury department as an assistant secretary doesn't send men to hospitals we have provided for them."

GEORGIA BUDS FACE
CAMERA FIRST TIME

ly trying circumstances of their first appearance before the camera. The pictures were taken in the neighborhood of the clubhouse, race and no more picturesque spot in the neighborhood of Atlanta could be found.

The girls were given no difficult acting to perform before the camera. It was the desire of Mr. Buchanan to take the beauties in their girlish winsomeness. He realized that in this the contestants would show to their best advantage.

Aided by Leibman. In posing the contestants he received the invaluable aid of Walter Leibman, southern manager for the Associated Producers. Mr. Leibman acted as director, a position that he held with distinction before he entered the commercial end of the game, and had the camera caught the courtly bows and the Chesterfield graces of Mr. Leibman as he put the girls through the paces, the Associated Producers would have lost one of its most efficient salesmen and the silver sheet gained a male movie star that would make many of those for whom fair maidens sigh retire to a desolate oblivion.

The first beauty to appear before the cameraman was Mary Jane Allen, the doll-like Atlanta girl, with fluff, golden hair, appealing blue eyes and the general daintiness of a Watteau painting and a wealth of girlish charm and insouciance. Mary Jane told the judges that she isn't stage struck, that she didn't know that she was in the contest until she saw in The Constitution that her mother had entered her.

She was absolutely positive that she wasn't nervous at all when she appeared before the judges, and had slept the sleep of an untroubled conscience the night before that momentous event—and the judges were inclined to confirm her statement.

Afraid of Her "Boss." However, she admitted that she was in something of a fuss as she appeared at the club, not that she feared facing the camera, but that she did dread the ire of her boss, from whose employ she had slipped off to take the screen test. She was followed by Miss Franz Hahr Dobbs, the dark-haired, lustrous-eyed beauty from Marietta. Miss Dobbs, who, in addition to natural graces and charm, possesses that exquisite poise that is characteristic of all girls who come from the historic finishing school of Georgia's classic city, admitted that she entered the contest because ever since she had left school it had been her dream and desire to enter the movies.

Her splendid repose and innate dignity lent a peculiarly appealing quality to her acting before the camera and caused her to make a splendid impression. Next was Miss Leah Forrest, another Atlanta girl, a great-niece of Nathan Bedford Forrest, the beau sabreur of the Confederacy. Forrest Adair, a namesake of the great cavalryman, declared that Miss Forrest's grandfather, General Forrest, was the only man that the general ever feared.

A Radiant Brunette. Miss Forrest is a radiant girl of the brunette type with a splendid fair complexion that makes the most lovely of all color combinations. Modest to a degree and her blushes on appearing before the lens, made her more impressive for Miss Anna Eugene Aiken, one of the judges, who was in charge of the contest, to put on enough powder to give her the paleness that the movie camera demands.

Miss Forrest shyly admitted that her particular passion is poetry and even more shyly admitted that she had never written some verse but had never summoned the courage to submit it for publication. She has also written some scenarios, but her modesty has kept them away from public view.

Miss Valerie McGee, the little elf from Eastman, Ga., isn't a retdrill about her accomplishments. "I've tried short story writing," she said and then confessed that the rejection slips from him asking for me to send a black and white photo by return mail.

"I didn't have a photo, but that didn't keep me from getting one. I went out and woke up a photographer and had him make the picture. When it was printed I woke up the postmaster and got a special delivery stamp, then went out and flagged a train and mailed it. And here I am."

Miss McGee is a Shorter college girl, and has a plethora of charm and grace that no movie director could improve.

The last girl to pose was Miss Ethelyn Williamson of Gainesville. She is a beautiful petite brunette, with the dashing black eyes and ingenuously mischievousness of a Mabel Normand, with a wealth of dark brown hair that falls over her shoulders in a Janice Meredith curl. She says she has been having a good time all her life, which hasn't been very long; loves to dance and play the piano; is particularly addicted to fox-trots, and is eager to begin a serious study leading to a screen career.

As soon as the cameraman had finished with the girls, the judges, Mr. Adair, Miss Aiken, Harry Goodhart, Mr. Leibman and Francis Clarke, with Willard C. Patterson, manager of the Criterion theater, who directed the contest, were forced to take a dose of their own medicine and stand before the lens. This completed judges and contestants adjourned to the club dining room, where everybody was the guest of Adair at luncheon.

The pictures made Wednesday were immediately shipped off to be printed, and will be shown next week, at a date to be announced at the Criterion theater.

CLEAR WEATHER
AND ENJOYABLE.
PROMISED TODAY

If the fickleness of the recent weather has you flustered, take heart, for C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist and forecaster, admitted Wednesday afternoon that the weather had been so changeable recently that he feared to predict even a few hours ahead of Thursday—which he assures Atlanta will be a fine day.

"Thursday will be clear and enjoyable," he said, "but the thermometer will register a slightly lower temperature in the morning than it did Wednesday. I think the day will start off at about 58 degrees, certainly not below freezing. The temperature will moderate during the day and should be spring-like for the most part."

Quitman, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—A very interesting visitor will be Prof. K. G. Matheson, of the Georgia Tech, who will be the honor guest of the Rotary club Thursday, making an address at a large luncheon given by them and also another address in the evening at the school auditorium.

LEADING MEN INVITED
Plan to Boost Big Brother and Sister Plan.

Cyrus Campfield, directing head of the Atlanta Urban League "Big Brother and Big Sister Movement," has invited 145 prominent men and women of South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia to come to Atlanta, March 14-15, for the purpose of making an intensive study of the question of "Juvenile Delinquency" and to extend and apply the principles underlying the "Big Brother and Big Sister Movement" here in the south.

Governor Hugh M. Dorsey has appointed the following delegates from the state at large to attend the conference: Prof. R. R. Wright, Savannah; Dr. J. W. Holley, Albany; Bishop J. S. Flipper, Atlanta; W. M. Hubbard, Forsyth; G. W. F. Phillips, Cordele; A. Hunt, Fort Valley; Mrs. W. L. Hill, Savannah; Prof. W. H. Spencer, Columbus; Etta Thomas Payne, Athens; Lucy C. Laney, Augusta; T. K. Forsley, Macon; Prof. W. H. Croghan, Atlanta; Prof. R. R. Holmes, Waycross; Dr. W. A. Williams, Griffin; Rev. J. L. Williamson, Dalton; Mrs. George S. Williams, Savannah; Rev. P. H. Travis, Gainesville; Mrs. Gordon McCarthy, Macon.

Many a Pretty Face
Spoiled by Pimples

Don't close your eyes to the warning which nature gives, when unsightly pimples appear on your face and other parts of the body.

Not only are these pimples and blotches disfiguring, but they lead to serious skin diseases that spread and cause the most discomforting irritation and pain. Sometimes they foretell Eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other annoyances that burn like flames of fire, and make you feel that your skin is ablaze.

When these symptoms appear on any part of the body, take prompt steps to rid the blood of these disorders. And the one remedy which has no equal as a blood cleanser is

S.S.S., the purely vegetable blood medicine, which has been on the market for more than fifty years. It is sold by druggists everywhere.

If you are afflicted with this form of skin disease do not expect to be cured by lotions, ointments, salves and other local remedies, as they can not possibly reach the source of the trouble, which is in the blood. Begin taking S.S.S. today, and write a complete history of your case to our chief medical adviser who will give you special instructions, without charge. Write at once to Medical Director, 827 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

In response to the inquiry of many telephone subscribers: "What can I do to help my service?" this advertisement is published.

Unpreparedness
Causes Delay

"Wait a minute, Central, I'll get the number."

You'd be surprised to know how often this remark greets the operators every day.

It means a serious delay which, when it occurs frequently, slows up the whole service.

To avoid such delays, the telephone user should always look in the telephone directory for the number wanted before taking the receiver from the hook.

By this sort of telephone preparedness you get quicker connections, the operator's work is lightened and good telephone service is greatly facilitated.

LITTLE PROGRESS
IN NEAR-EAST MEET

Turkish Delegations Confer to Reach Detailed Outline of Demands for Treaty Revision.

London, February 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Unless progress in the private conferences at the various hotels where the delegations are housed is more rapid than appears on the surface, the prospect of settling the near eastern problem before the reparations conference is held is not very bright. The two Turkish delegations, which appeared before the allied council today had to be sent back for more detailed outline of their demands for a revision of the Sevres treaty, and the afternoon meeting with the Greeks, who desired to reply to what the Turks said, had to be abandoned.

The Turkish Constantinople delegation and the nationalist delegation who are still outwardly hostile toward each other, but whose general proposals at today's session were virtually identical, got together as soon as they reached their hotel, and it is expected that before tomorrow morning they will elaborate the detail of their proposals as requested by President Lloyd George, in such form as both can support.

HUT TO BE DEDICATED

Tech High School Boys Will Attend in Body.

The new Boy Scout troop hut at Tech High school, donated by Mel R. Wilkinson, will be formally opened with exercises at 1:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The hut, which is for the use of a new scout troop formed at the high school, has been designated "Willis A. Sutton Hut," in honor of Professor W. A. Sutton, the principal.

Professor Sutton will preside, and the exercises will be witnessed by the student body. Others attending will be Atlanta scout executives, members of the Tech High troop committee, and of the Atlanta scout executive committee.

"Dode" Paskert
Risks His Life
To Save Others

Former Atlanta Baseball Star Rescues Five Persons From Flames.

George Paskert has for years been known as the greatest outfielder ever graduated by the Atlanta club into the major leagues. His baseball star rescued five persons from flames.

Read this news item, wired out by the Associated Press: Cleveland, Ohio, February 23. Heroic efforts of George "Dode" Paskert, outfielder of the Cincinnati National league team, saved the lives of five small children and helped save the lives of ten other persons, when fire broke out in a store on Lorain avenue early today.

Paskert was passing the store when the fire was discovered. He ran three trips into the burning building, carrying out five children wrapped in rugs and his overcoat, and directed the other members of three families to safety.

The rescue of Paskert's hands and arms were badly burned and his face blistered by the flames. The property loss was small.

In the Hero Role.

The rescue of Paskert's hands and arms were badly burned and his face blistered by the flames. The property loss was small.

This article brings back memories to thousands of Atlantans who saw Paskert render yeoman service in giving the Crackers the first pennant won by an Atlanta club. Paskert was manager of the Southern League. Dode played left field, his companions in the outer defense being the diminutive Dick Bayliss and the ever old reliable George Winchell. Bill Smith was manager of the club then, 1903 was the year, and on that same ball club were the great Jim Archer, Roy Castle, Rube Zellars, Jim Fox and Otto Jordan.

Paskert the Star.

But despite the brilliance of a number of these athletes, Paskert was the bright particular star. A sliver of a man, an almost perfect outfielder, his future career in the major leagues was easily presaged.

On leaving Atlanta he went to the Cincinnati Nationals, later to the Phillies, in the same league, and still later to the Chicago Cubs. A few weeks ago Manager Evers, of the Cubs, announced that he had cut Paskert, but Pat Moran, of the Reds, believed that there is still a lot of baseball left for Paskert to play and promptly signed him.

His career has always been of peculiar interest to Atlantans, and his hundreds of friends here Wednesday took a new and abiding interest in it.

WARNED AGAINST MISREPRESENTATION

all question that the bonds ought to pass. Here are some organizations which have endorsed the bond issue. Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Atlanta Federation of Trades, embracing all organized crafts in the city; Affiliated Technical Societies, embracing the electrical, mechanical and civil engineers, the chemists and the architects; Central Council of Parent Teachers association embracing representatives of each association; Civitan club; Atlanta Real Estate Board; Atlanta Freight Bureau; Atlanta Commercial Exchange; Fulton County Medical Society; Atlanta Woman's Club; Order of Railway Conductors; Brotherhood of Employing Printers Association; Journeymen Barbers Union; Baptist Tabernacle; League of Women Voters; Jewish Educational Alliance; Colored People's Bond Campaign Committee.

Several of these organizations subjected the bond issue to a minute and searching scrutiny before endorsing it. Especially thorough was the examination made by the Affiliated Technical Societies, an organization composed of engineers and architects, who subjected every angle of the bond issue to a bold, blooded, technical, impersonal analysis. Then they endorsed it without qualification.

Bearing this in mind—What We Must Have. "That we have got to have more and better schools; we have got to keep out waterworks system up to the needs of a growing city; we have got to protect the public health by extending the sewers, enlarging the sewer purification plants and eradicating surface closets; we have got to relieve the traffic congestion."

No man or woman has questioned or can question the absolute necessity for all these improvements. Even the few who are fighting the bonds do not question the fact that all of these things have got to be done. Some of them say they favor an issuance of $3,850,000, and "even more," but then they qualify their support of bonds with a list of provisions which would make it impossible to issue bonds, either now or hereafter.

Bearing this in mind, also—These improvements have got to be made, and have got to be paid for; and they will be made and will be paid for, either by taxation or by bonds; and the people now are given the choice, which is their right, of paying for them in a long term of years, by moderate taxation, or paying for them in a short term of years by increased taxation.

The city tax rate is $1.25 per $100. An emergency rate of 45 cents has been levied for this year, making a total of $1.70. But if the bond issue carries, all of this emergency rate will not be collected. Only that portion of it necessary to pay school teachers will be collected. This will cut the total rate to $1.50 or less.

AGRICULTURE BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Measures Carrying $41,000,000 for Year's Operation of Department Attacked by Members.

Washington, February 23.—Over a running fire from senators who presented detailed objections to its proposals for increased expenditures, the senate tonight passed the agricultural appropriation bill, carrying approximately $41,000,000, for the operation of the department for the year beginning next June. This amount is nearly $9,000,000 in excess of appropriations for the current year, and almost $6,000,000 in excess of amounts allowed by the house, to which it was sent for conference after the senate's action.

I am going to ask the next secretary of agriculture to go through this bill as soon as he takes office and take out of it all the appropriations that allow work to be duplicated by two and sometimes more departments of the government," declared Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, who attacked unsuccessfully numerous sums allowed in the bill.

I hope the senator from Utah won't stop at the agricultural department, Chairman Wadsworth, of the military affairs committee, interrupted. We find the war department getting money in two or three different bills.

Larger items added by the senate to the agricultural bill included $150,000 extra for wood utilization experiments at Madison, Wis.; $100,000 for weather bureau forecasts for aviation; $114,000 for road materials investigations, and $300,000 for foreign markets for farm products.

PATENT CASE NEAR END Arguments Will Be Heard Last of Week.

The taking of evidence was completed Wednesday in the trial of the patent infringement case brought in the United States district court by the Macon Concrete Heli-Cor company against the Brooks-Calloway company of Atlanta.

Arguments have been postponed until Friday or Saturday. The Macon company charges that the Atlanta company uses concrete and cement finishing methods which are protected by patent rights held by the plaintiff. The defendants deny the validity of the letters patent held by the plaintiff.

Creosolium is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Increases appetite and body-weight. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

PASTOR CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER
ASKS NEW TRIAL

Soperton, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—Boss Hooks, the Troulen county minister, yesterday convicted of manslaughter and given a sentence of from 10 to 15 years, has entered application for a new trial. Hooks was convicted of the killing of L. K. Lumley and his son in the upper part of the county last August. Dennis Hooks, father of Boss Hooks, was convicted about two weeks ago of participating with his son in the killing of the Lumleys, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

CHATTOOGA PRISONER
ON TWENTIETH TERM

Lyerly, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—Will Skates, a white man, probably has the greatest chain-gang record of any man in the state. He has just entered upon the twentieth term in the Chattooga county jail, after being brought back here from Catoosa county, where he was serving a sentence. Skates escaped from the county jail here last summer, while a trusty.

He had not been heard of until Sunday, when T. A. Mashburn, warden of the county jail, went to Ringgold to get two other prisoners. When he arrived there he found that Skates was serving a two-year sentence in that county, and he was told he would have to enter upon his twentieth term and finish his seven months in this county.

GIRL BURIED IN GRAVE
THOUGHT KINSEY'S

Lyerly, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—Investigation at Trion today revealed the fact that the body of a young girl had been buried in a grave in an isolated portion of Trion cemetery. The finding of the freshly-made grave yesterday caused officials to suppose that the body of a missing mail carrier, Kinsey, who disappeared January 25, might be found under the earth there.

DRIVE WILL CONTINUE FOR HUMANE SOCIETY

One-Third of Amount Sought Already Raised or Has Been Assured.

Workers in the campaign of the Atlanta Humane society to raise $10,000, pledged themselves at a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the office of Chairman John A. Manget, to continue their efforts until the full sum is raised. Reports made at the meeting show that one-third of the amount sought is in hand or is assured by pledges.

Plans were outlined to lay the appeal of the society before the churches, Sunday schools, and young people's associations. The largest business firms of Atlanta will be asked to appoint an official or employee to lay before all members of their organizations the plea for funds. Malcolm Lockheart will be in charge of this part of the campaign.

Fired by speeches made by leading men and women of Atlanta, the workers pledged themselves anew to work toward the goal of 2,000 members for the society.

Following the meeting, a score of the leaders in the society's campaign conferred with Mayor Key in his office over the designation of a motorcycle office for humane work. It was suggested that such an officer report daily to the office of the police board. Mayor Key expressed his hearty sympathy with the purposes of the Humane society.

From the office of Chairman Manget, the announcement was made that contributions received include: Asa Candler, Sr., $25; Mrs.

Robert Lowry, $25; F. J. Paxton, $10; Miss Katherine Crabb, $10; and Mrs. Z. R. Patton, $10.

According to a solicitor at the Guildhall there are 275 different games of "patience." The poor old British public seems to be playing the lot of them just now.

Paying the Penalty.

At the cost of a great part of the territorial acquisitions she received at the hands of the peace conference, the Hellenic kingdom is now paying the penalty for having blindly overthrown Venizelos—the "grand old man" of Greece—and re-throned the former Kaiser's brother-in-law, Constantine, against the advice and wishes of the powers that were allied "to make the world safe for democracy."

By forcing King Constantine to abdicate, because of the close blood relationship between the Greek and the German thrones, and because of his apparent sympathy with the cause of the central empires, the Greek people, while the war was at its height, deeply ingratiate themselves into the heart of the civilized world and put their nation directly in line to realize the dreams of a century—a century of striving for "a place in the sun" as a world power.

Under the remarkable leadership of Premier Venizelos Greece performed nobly throughout the rest of the war, and fared extraordinarily well at the peace conference of Versailles, receiving many valuable and long-sought acquisitions of territory that had been wrested from her in times past by her ancient and traditional enemies, notably the Turks.

Venizelos did more for Greece during the period dating from Constantine's abdication to the signing of the peace treaty than any other premier or king or cabinet had done in the last hundred years; with the return of the once-repudiated king, who was then living in exile in Switzerland.

The allied governments had issued solemn warnings against development in Greek politics; and now, in keeping with those warnings, the allied premiers, says a London dispatch, meeting in the British capital—

"to solve the near-eastern problem, have collectively turned their backs to the Greek plea that they are willing steadfastly to adhere to the entente principles. Instead of granting the Hellenic nation continued authority in the Levant, the premiers have decided to strip her of a great deal of her present prestige and influence."

What the premiers' decision means to Greece is categorically set forth as follows—

"The Sevres treaty will be revised, chiefly at the expense of Greece."

"Greece will be deprived of all territorial acquisitions in Asia Minor."

"Greece will eventually be forced to withdraw from Smyrna and Broussa, and to give up all aspirations along the Bosphorus and Dardanelles and in Constantinople."

"An autonomous Smyrna may be created, although it is believed that the pre-war status of Turkey in Asia will ultimately be restored, with the strictest of allied supervision, and with guarantees by the Porte for the safety of non-Moslem minorities."

"The disposition of Thrace has not yet been agreed upon, although it is possible that this territory also will be made autonomous."

Thus is Greece apparently headed toward a position of "status quo ante," powerless to help herself; and all because her people permitted themselves to be swayed by the partisans of the former pro-German king.

AN UNUSUAL SAFEGUARD.

Ordinarily when the people of a city vote a bond issue for development and permanent purposes, the money is placed in the hands of the city authorities for disbursement practically without restriction save those stated in the bonding proposal, the assumption naturally being, of course, that it will be wisely and economically applied to the purpose intended.

So it would be in the present instance in Atlanta in connection with the disbursement of the funds contemplated in the proposed $8,850,000 municipal improvement bond issue, but for the fact that the mayor and council have not only consented to the creation of a special commission to exercise advisory authority over the use of the bond money by the city administration, but authorized and designated such a body.

There is nothing in the record either of the present city council and mayor or of past administrations to justify even a suspicion that a dollar of the money anticipated in the bonding proposal to be voted on next March 8 would be wasted or squandered or unwisely spent; but solely to throw round it the additional safeguard of placing its administration under the advisory direction of a special commission representative of each ward in the city the council voluntarily authorized the mayor to appoint such a board, and the mayor, as conscientiously, designated sixteen of the best qualified men and women in the city for that service—men and women in whose ability, honesty and absolute integrity every citizen in Atlanta has explicit confidence.

In other words, the city administration has voluntarily surrendered a measure of its own prerogative in order to supply an extraordinary additional safeguard against possible injudicious expenditure of this fund.

It all goes to show that the administration's heart "is in the right place" on this matter; that it has only the best welfare of the city in mind, and that it wants and intends to do its level best for the whole people!

JUSTICE AT WORK.

For the manner in which the case of Lon Terry and Oscar Howell, members of the city detective force, and Griff Freeman, a lay citizen, was disposed of in superior court yesterday the jury, which found the trio guilty of violation of the prohibition laws, and Judge Humphries, who imposed upon each a sentence of one year in the chain-gang and a fine of $1,000, are deserving of highest commendation on the part of the self-respecting people of this community and state.

In this instance the criminal court of Fulton county has set an example well worth following by every court in Georgia.

It has shown the way to the complete destruction of the unholy traffic in blind water whisky that is not only disgracing Georgia, but sapping the vitality and destroying the character of Georgia men and women by the wholesale!

The chain-gang—not merely a fine—is the proper punishment for those guilty of handling whisky.

In view of their official positions as officers of the law—as supposed guardians, themselves, of the public peace—the association of Detectives Terry and Howell as defendants in a case of this kind is particularly shameful and deplorable. But, being guilty, as a jury of their peers, after a few minutes' deliberation, found them to be, their conviction and their assignment to the chain-gang are correspondingly gratifying.

It is only fair to assume, too—and there is ample ground for the assumption—that no citizen or element of the Atlanta community is more gratified at the firm stand of the court in sentencing these convicted men than are the members of the Atlanta police force who are honestly, conscientiously and fearlessly living up to their oaths of office and doing their best to eradicate the curse of liquor and the blind tiger menace from the city of which they are honored servants!

As to Griff Freeman, he, according to the jury that heard the evidence, is simply a common whisky trafficker; but the two detective co-defendants with him are guilty of something far more grave than that.

In addition to being whisky traffickers, as the jury found them to be—traffickers in an outlawed commodity, debauchers of men and women—they are per se guilty of the most flagrant and corrupt disregard for their sworn duty and for their oaths to uphold the constitution, the law and the institutions of the law of their state and of the city that employed and placed confidence in them!

It is comforting to the people of Fulton county to be given this reassurance that the criminal division of their county superior court is presided over by a Christian judge who is fearless enough and conscientious enough to administer the law with only the public welfare in view, and in the way calculated to prove most effective!

It is to be hoped that the culmination of this sensational "whisky" trial will mark the beginning of a new day in the determined—and, to date, uphill—fight that is being made to stamp out the disgraceful liquor traffic in Atlanta, Fulton county and Georgia!

What this court has done, others can, and, let us hope, will do.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Fornicate the Bramble Bush.

"Mother, may I go out to swim?"

"O, yes, my darling daughter."

Hang your clothes on the bramble.

But don't go near the water."

"Dear Doctor: I have been a close follower of your column and one of your star converts—so much so that I did not buy any rubbers at the beginning of this winter season and have otherwise become reckless about 'exposure,' all on the strength of your insistence that one cannot 'catch cold' from draughts, wet feet, etc. And despite objections from the wife I began to open bedroom windows nights, thus adding to the coldness of the room and had almost converted F. W. to your ways of thinking, when, all of a sudden, I was stricken with influenza."

"Comes our friend Dr. Currier and tells us to stay away from draughts. What the devil is the matter?"

Why can't doctors agree? Friend F. W. now insists on closed windows, rubbers, etc., and everything seems too bad. I might add that I have ventured into many a draught since you converted me, and nothing serious has happened to me. I suppose I was just lucky."

"Yours truly, "E. M. L."

Clipping enclosed. This is the clipping:

"Question: It is healthy to leave windows open in one's sleeping room at night? I am in the habit of doing this, but am told it is dangerous to health (Key)."

"Answer: Some are quite sensitive to cold—type blurred and unreadable—temperature of the sleeping room too low, especially if one is delicate and predisposed to disease. It is always important to avoid draughts, but nothing (Dr. Currier) have said means that you should do anything to cut off the supply of fresh air, or, if at night, it is absolutely essential, whether you get it by open windows or any other way."

Ho, hum. It seems this way, boy: You'll be sorry if you open your bedroom windows nights and you'll be sorry if you don't. You may cudgel our brains and take your choice.

We are all agreed, we doctors, that fresh air is a good thing, but we do differ some as to the proper way to push it along.

I don't believe anybody can be more fond of health and comfort than I am. I get my feet wet or sit in a draught, or endure change of weather (the weather has such a mean way of changing here on earth) without a word, so long as I can manage to keep myself comfortable. In fact, I am grateful to the weather man for every change of weather, be it from warm to cold or from cold to warm, from dry to wet or wet to dry, for I know that such changes are but natural stimulus which makes our country the home of the most vigorous people on earth. People who live on the weather and seasons are not very changeable never amount to a great deal.

I thank E. M. L. for referring to my "insistence" that one doesn't catch "cold" from draughts, wet feet or exposure. So many readers call that my "theory." It is no theory, but a fact established by long personal observation and experience. The theory in this question is that one can acquire some respiratory ailment as a result of wet feet or wet feet and cold. Nobody has yet succeeded in adding actual evidence or experimental proof to this theory. It is, in fact, an exploded theory, and all modern propaganda against the spread of respiratory infections is based on this theory. It is a cold, logically or reasonably correct both.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

What do you think of a family where there are several children, keeping several cats in the house? The children fondle and play with the kittens. Is this not dangerous? (G. F. L.)

ANSWER—No. Kittens can stand it all right. It is when the kittens become cats and go out calling that they become potential germ-carriers. By that time the folks will probably have grown out of keeping the cats, and the kids will have become old enough to become chicken fanciers.

Beer and Quorum.

I have read letters from doctors printed in the newspapers, asserting that the medical doctors of the United States condemned the use of whisky for medicinal purposes there was not a quorum present. Please excuse the pink writing on the envelope. I am a doctor. At least I use no perfume or oil, and I sign myself with my real name, W. B. Brady, M. D.

ANSWER—I'll forgive you—you wrote with ink. I do not know what the medical doctors of the United States would be. Alcohol in the form of whisky is no longer officially recognized as medicine. The majority of reputable physicians do not use whisky for medicinal purposes, and the whisky "doctors" are "eminent" ones are glad to prescribe it freely if you have the price of the prescription. There are something like 150,000 physicians in the United States. I believe, would be pretty hard to get a quorum together. I think you will find that the medical doctors of the United States are not very much interested in the profit through their sale or who like their life.

January and April.

A boy aged nine sleeps with his grandfather, who is 70 and feeble. The grandfather is an inveterate smoker and smokes much through the night for the relief of asthma. (1) Does it reduce the boy's vitality to sleep with the old man? (2) Is the air laden with tobacco smoke injurious to the boy's health? (—X—)

ANSWER—(1) Only in the extent that the boy's rest is disturbed by the invalid. (2) The foul air unquestionably injures the boy's health.

It would be better for both if they occupied not only separate beds but separate rooms.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper.

What the Stars Predict.

This is an unlucky day. It is prophesied that there will be events of a most sensational nature taking place in the United States.

There will be a marked lowering of prices in real estate.

A new revolution is indicated for Russia.

Persons whose birthday this is will have a perplexing year; women especially will know much uncertainty, especially in affairs of the heart.

Children born today will be erratic and nervous, and very brilliant.

Bits of New York Life

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

New York, February 23.—At night when the torch of Liberty glows through the mists like the twin lights of Nevadale and the magic skyline is engulfed in shadows, the tip ends of Manhattan Island become as quiet and peaceful as the countryside. On the upper end and the crying of children, the shrill cry of the huckster, the rattle of wagons and roar of traffic stills. Wall Street and Pine streets are endless deserted streets with the peaceful spire of Trinity in the distance.

It is in the center of the island that life becomes a seething cauldron—erupting fire and light, cursing chauffeurs, giddy maidens and freshly Yogis in a dizzy whirl. While uptown New York walks quietly home from vespers, prayers, the tenderloin crowds begin the pilgrimage to their midnight mecca.

I always used to think of New York as a hurrying topsy-turvy town with a dash of everything. It is scurrying to the call of vice. It is a welcome relief to find that the majority of the people are as far removed from the hysteria of night life as the tiniest hamlet in an Iowa corn road.

I know a man who has lived here all his life. He is not a fossil, and he works in the whirl of Wall Street's liveliest section. Yet he has been on Broadway at midnight but twice in his life. He has raised a fine family and sent his children off to college.

Once a week his recreation is attending church. He goes to the church in the basement of his club. He gives 20 per cent of his salary to charity. That is one type of born New Yorker and there are thousands like him. There are just as many wives who have never been to the opera, and who have never played a rubber of bridge.

They are simply kindly folks who are lashed by the complexities of a great city which makes its gay and frivolous seem representative of the entire population. It is the decayed section of New York, like the phosphorescent fish that glows off the glow and gives effulgence to vice. Even the Bowery and the east side team entrance and despite its poverty and army of derelicts.

All of which was inspired by a half earnest and half joking remark of a friend of mine who lives in the middle west and wanted to know when he saw me if I did not carry a flask. When I denied the gentle imputation he said in surprise: "Why I thought every man and woman in New York carried a flask!"

The poor newspaper photographer Some one is always chasing him up a tree, so to speak. The latest burst of indignation aimed at him came from young Kingdon Gould, who appeared in court to deny a breach of the law. When the photographer was told that Gould waited in a cage for him at the entrance. But there was no cage. The photographer was in his dark room making his pretty picture.

The most amusing line in "The Tavern," the serio comic melodrama, is: "What's all the waiting for?" The phrase has become a popular one in almost every circle. It is quite astounding how it may be applied with numerous effects, especially upon those who have seen the show.

Two Broadway publicity men had luncheon together at the Astor the other day. At the conclusion there was the customary struggle for the check. As the waiter paid it he said grudgingly: "I don't see why you trim your finger nails so close. It doesn't seem to be ever able to pick up a check."

Shoe and Textile Centers Report Big Improvement

Boston, February 23.—Activity in shoe manufacture and definite improvement in textile lines, as compared with conditions of three months ago, are reported from centers of those industries in New England.

The shoe industry, which was virtually flat last fall, has taken a spurt as a result of Easter demands and manufacturers say they look for a general strengthening in the call for shoes after the usual dull period of the spring, with a return to normal production by the end of the year.

Production of cotton textiles has increased during the winter by from 25 to 50 per cent and even more in some special lines, according to manufacturers, who credit the improvement largely to the stimulus of low prices quoted to the trade as a result of the 22-1-2 per cent wage cut. In the cotton mill centers of New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Maine, and Massachusetts a distinct advance is reported.

Except in Fall River, the center of the cotton clothing industry, where the mills, employing 35,000, are now working at a normal rate, few new instances of a return to normal in that industry have been reported.

Mills of the American Woolen company, in Lawrence, are employing 10,000 men and women and are being run more hours under the wage reduction of 22 1-2 per cent, but are working at less than half their capacity, it is estimated.

Textile makers of cotton mill machinery have continued to run with full forces through the dull period of the winter, but a considerable degree of curtailment is evident in other machinery lines.

WOMEN STAGE BATTLE

Husband Is Cause of Scrap, Police Are Told.

A lively bout between Mrs. Birdie Cochran, of 193 1/2 Decatur street, and Miss Catherine Jackson, of 28 Peachtree street, on Tuesday, was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators.

The fight started very suddenly and with considerable pep, when Mrs. Cochran, who was coming toward Peachtree street, met her husband sauntering leisurely along with Miss Jackson, it is stated.

Both combatants, Miss Jackson, released under a cash bond, and Mrs. Cochran, who was given a copy of charges.

CO-OPERATION PLANNED

Y. W. C. A. and Church Groups Hold Conference.

Closer co-operation between the Young Women's Christian association and the church groups of this city doing the same sort of work for girls, is expected result from a meeting of church representatives and the educational committee of the Young Women's Christian association, held Wednesday evening in the association room at Peachtree street.

Duplication of effort will be avoided as a result of the meeting, and the division of the field in which they operate. The meeting was called by the educational committee of the association, of which Mrs. W. A. Albright is chairman.

ART LOVERS TO MEET

Col. A. L. Lawton to Make Address Tonight.

The principal address of the meeting of the Atlanta Art association, which will be held at the Hotel Savannah, according to announcement by President Young B. Brown, the gathering will be at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Sam Inman, of 535 Peachtree street.

Former Officer Here Caught in Birmingham

Carl Cathey, a former police officer, who jumped $1,000 bond while on duty in Birmingham, Ala., was returned to this city by the Birmingham police Wednesday night, after he had been arrested in that city, and is now lodged in the Fulton county jail. J. H. Harrison, another policeman, was indicted for taking money from a negro woman who had arrested, and neither returning her to the police station, according to the charges against them.

HAND-MADE SOFA

PILLOW TOP NETS

$43.75 AT RAFFLE

Forty-three dollars and seventy-five cents was realized for the Home for the Friendless Tuesday at the weekly Kiwanis luncheon, when a beautiful hand-made sofa pillow top, bearing the club emblem, was raffled for the benefit of the institution, which is sponsored by the club. The top was won by Dr. Sam Green.

The pillow top was made by Mrs. Hugh Faulkner, wife of Kilmann Hugh Faulkner, and donated to the club to be used in any money raising for the benefit of the institution. Mrs. Pinner sets out that they were married in 1909, and that she enduring severe cruelty at his hands for several years, and was forced to separate from him in February of this year. She further alleges that he beat and abused her and, on one occasion, pointed a pistol at her and threatened her life. She alleges that although she is separated from Pinner, he persists in following and annoying her. Judge Pendleton set the hearing on the plea for alimony for April 16.

BROTHER OF FORMER GERMAN EMPRESS DEAD

CECIL P. POOLE DIES IN NORFOLK

Was Well Known in Engineering and in Musical Circles in Atlanta—Funeral Services Today.

Cecil P. Poole, former mechanical engineer of the city of Atlanta, widely known in the engineering profession, and a prominent figure in the musical world, died at his home in Norfolk, Va., at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, according to dispatches from that city last night. Funeral services will be held in Norfolk at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, 33 Lusk avenue.

Mr. Poole was a resident of Atlanta for several years, during which time he was city mechanical engineer. He resigned that position about February 1, 1921, and returning to his former home, Norfolk, resumed his former profession, that of consulting engineer. A citizen of Atlanta, he became known as a musician of note, having been organist and choir-master of St. Luke's church.

As a member of the engineering profession, Mr. Poole was known nationally. Prior to accepting the Atlanta position, he had been in engineering work in New York city, was editorially affiliated with various technical periodicals, and was electrical editor of "Power," one of the country's best known trade publications.

As musical director of the Atlanta Opera club, Mr. Poole became one of the city's favorite musicians. He directed the music in "The Mikado" last year, and he was also in charge of the program of the "Musical Whirl."

Mr. Poole is survived by his wife, who is an aunt of Roger and Bockover Toy, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Elizabeth Toy Lamar, wife of Judge William B. Lamar, of Thomasville.

DR. ALLEN FORT BETTER
Noted Pastor III in Nashville With Pneumonia.

News has reached Atlanta of the improved condition of Dr. Allen Fort, pastor of the First Baptist church of Nashville, Tenn., who has been critically ill for the past few days from pneumonia. A number of calls have been received at the office of the Christian Index from this city and other sections of the state asking about the condition of Dr. Fort. He is a native of America and the son of the late Oliver Allen Fort, formerly a member of the railroad commission and a widely known Georgia statesman, and was pastor of one of the largest churches in Tennessee, he was president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and is actively connected with all the national work throughout the south.

Dr. Fort has been a noted speaker in many Georgia meetings, and was scheduled to be in Fort Valley for the E. Y. P. U. convention in the next few days.

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. MARY SMITH

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Smith, 91 years old, of 218 1/2 North Ave., who died Tuesday afternoon at a private hospital, as a result of injuries sustained while traveling, when she fell from her bed, was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Bethel Methodist church, near Smyrna, Ga.

She is survived by four stepchildren, C. B. H. Smith, A. F. Smith and Mrs. A. C. Lowe.

DODD NAMED RECEIVER FOR NATHAN GOLDBERG

In an order Tuesday morning by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, Jr., Dodd was named receiver for Nathan Goldberg, a grocer of 562 Simpson street. He was required to give bond in the sum of $500. Goldberg filed voluntary bankruptcy papers Monday, giving liabilities of $1,938.98, an assets of $1,326.10. A voluntary petition was filed Tuesday by Samuel Marks Norman, a traveling salesman. His schedule disclosed liabilities aggregating $7,326.45, and assets totaling $7,326.45.

Liquor in Home Ruled No Ground For U. S. Charge

R. A. Costley Wins Point in Federal Court—May Face State Case.

The possession of a small quantity of whisky in his home, for personal drinking purposes, by R. A. Costley, a McDonough road grocer, having a store near the federal prison, did not constitute a violation of the federal prohibition act in the eyes of United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter, when Costley was arraigned for preliminary trial Wednesday afternoon.

Costley was arrested by Federal Prohibition Agents O. W. Whitley, T. E. Harris and William McKinney late Wednesday afternoon, after officers had found a small quantity of rye whisky in Costley's residence and also a quart jar full of corn whisky behind a counter in his store.

Judge Carter ruled that under the federal laws a man is not guilty of violation if he has the whisky in his own home for his own use. The presence of the whisky in the place of business, he held, was a violation, and required the action of the officers.

Costley admitted that he has been a drinker for some time, but he denied the knowledge of the whisky found in his store. He just bought the business two weeks ago, and the whisky was left in the store by the former occupant, he said.

Judge Carter took the case under consideration, and will announce a decision shortly. In the meanwhile Costley is at liberty on his own bond. If he is discharged by the government, he will be arraigned under the state dry law.

Bids for Purchase Of Roswell Railroad

Bids in writing for the purchase of the Roswell railroad have been received by Henry B. Troutman, receiver for the company. These bids were turned over to the Fulton superior court, which has jurisdiction over the sale of the property.

The Roswell railroad, which runs from Chamblee to Roswell, was operated for a number of years under a lease, by the Southern railway. The Southern, however, called attention recently to the fact that the charter for the road had expired and discontinued the service. The line was later leased by the receiver to the Fulton Storage and Transfer company, which maintained motor freight and passenger service for a short time. Efforts are being made to sell the property, and the bids received by Mr. Troutman are consequent to this sale.

Knights of Pythias To Hold Celebration Next Friday Evening

Knights from all the lodges of the order in Atlanta and adjacent towns will participate in the fifty-seventh anniversary of the Knights of Pythias celebration Friday night in the Forsyth building hall.

The celebration will be held at approximately 5,000 active and inactive members. Following is the committee for the local celebration: Jesse Wood, Leon C. Greer, Young H. F. G. Greer, Dr. W. V. Morris, C. C. Gillett, B. L. Owens, Tom Ehling, J. B. Little, C. Cron, H. E. Smith, W. L. Quirouette, Fred Turner, E. Butler, G. H. Foykett, W. C. Fink, C. G. Aiken, Frank Kempton and B. D. Sprowl.

E. B. GIBSON IS DEAD

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted This Morning.

E. B. Gibson, 50 years of age, a prominent Atlanta furniture man, died early Wednesday morning at his home, 238 Oak street, as a result of a stroke of paralysis which he had suffered several days ago.

Mr. Gibson was originally from Columbus, Ga., where he first entered the furniture business. He was the father of the late A. H. Gibson, and has since devoted the greater part of his time to the business. Entering the furniture field in Atlanta in 1914, his venture was attended with success. He was president of the Gibson Furniture exchange, which has two furniture houses in the city.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Charles and Eugene Gibson, and two daughters, Mrs. J. B. Gibson, of Atlanta, and Mrs. W. D. Gibson, of Auburn, Ala., and two sons, William and John, of Columbus, Ga., and Mrs. James McGhee of Waverly Hall, Ga.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home, the Rev. S. P. Wiggins officiating. The interment will be in the West View cemetery. The pallbearers will be as follows: J. C. Milam, D. W. Anderson, B. B. Sibley, Ben Carter, W. C. Walters and J. L. Ligon.

MARIONETTES ARRIVE

Begin Three Days' Engagement at the Atlanta.

Tony Sarg's wonderfully clever little company of Marionettes will have a three days' engagement at the Atlanta theater tonight under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Study club.

While the actors in the three plays to be given are little wooden puppets only, the management of the company is no less real. The plays they produce are spoken plays and are in no sense merely pantomime. In fact, there is no difference between seeing the Marionettes and a company of the highest trained actors. The plays are of interest that all the action is mechanical. How the plays are presented in the realistic way that the real is one of the wonders of the age.

The performance is to be in Tony Sarg's little theater. This classic of American literature has been especially adapted to the puppet stage for Tony Sarg.

The performance this evening will begin at 8:15. Rip Van Winkle will be repeated for the children of the city at a special matinee on Friday. The evening and Saturday matinees, "The Ring" and "The Ring" will be staged.

PRELIMINARY HEARING WAIVED BY UPSHAW

Sydney L. Upshaw, alleged fake sugar broker, whose preliminary trial on a charge of misuse of the mails was to have been resumed Tuesday afternoon before United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter, announced when the case was called that he desired to waive all further preliminary examination. Commissioner Carter held him for the federal grand jury, term, under $500 bond, which he furnished.

Upshaw is charged with soliciting orders from an Atlanta office for sugar at bargain prices through newspaper advertisements and failing to fill them, after getting the money.

DATEL THEVES STRIKE RING BLAZE

Unable to Loot Huyler Candy Store Safe, Robbers Fire Building—Loss Will Exceed $75,000.

Baffled by their failure to force the safe of Huyler's candy store, 91 Peachtree street, burglars set fire to the building in a spirit of vengeance early Wednesday morning. The fire gutted the Huyler establishment, spread to the Peck jewelry shop, next door at 93 Peachtree, and for a time threatened one of Atlanta's busiest building blocks. These are the conclusions reached by detectives and fire marshals investigating the cause of the blaze. The conclusions were reached after experts had forced the safe that the burglars had attacked. It was badly mutilated. A huge hole had been sawed off, while the handle of the combination had been removed. It is the belief of the investigators that the yegmen, who were probably amateurs, deliberately went into the basement of the Huyler establishment and started the blaze.

Total damage of the fire, which burned and smoldered until midnight, was variously estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. These damages include damage done by water to adjoining and neighboring structures.

Pittman Discovers Fire.

The fire was discovered shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday morning by W. W. Pittman, who lives at Engine House No. 4. Within five minutes that company had a stream playing on the burning Huyler store, and soon thereafter the rest of the city apparatus arrived on the scene.

Unusual difficulties were encountered by the firemen in getting to the origin of the blaze, which had entrance had to be dug through the sidewalk to permit a sufficient number of streams to play to check the gain of the flames.

As the fire progressed a heavy smoke from the basement overcame several of the firemen. They speedily recovered and went back to the job. The flames spread to the main floor of the confectionery establishment, and to the jewelry shop next door.

Above the Peck store are the offices of Dr. M. Z. Crist, dentist. Dr. Crist's rooms were not reached by the flames, but were badly damaged by smoke and water. During the progress of the fire, which was a whole building would go, he was permitted from Fire Chief Cody mounting a ladder, which was used to reach the roof of the building.

Rooms in the building, formerly occupied by George H. McPherson, Co., cotton brokers, were damaged by smoke and water.

Among the early arrivals at the fire were J. J. Fehner, manager of the jewelry establishment, he and Mrs. Fehner served coffee and sandwiches all day to the firemen, and a steaming hot breakfast was furnished to all the firefighters, free of charge, from the Thornton corner.

John Shinholtzer, manager of Huyler's, estimated the damages to his establishment at $75,000. The damage includes the destruction of his soda fountain, an ice cream machine, and a large stock of Easter candies, recently received from New York.

Mr. Fehner was unable to estimate his damage Wednesday night, declaring that he would first have to take an inventory of his stock. He said that it would be in the neighborhood of $25,000. The buildings owned by George H. McPherson, Co., which he is believed to have damaged his damage at $25,000, which he is covering by insurance. The other sufferers were not counted.

The Tudor theater, Allen M. Pierce, clothing merchant, and the March Hare Tea shop on Auburn avenue were more or less damaged by smoke and water. The Tudor was compelled to stay closed all day, and the March Hare, which had the boiler room was flooded, but was opened to its patrons during the evening.

GEORGIAN MAN LEAD PARTY IN CONGRESS

Move on Foot to Make Crisp Floor Manager for the Next Session.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.
Washington, February 23.—(Special.)—With representatives Charles Clark, of Missouri, retiring from congress at the close of this session, and Representative Claude Kittling, of North Carolina, too ill, it is believed that the leadership of the democratic minority in the house is passing to the hands of a new manager for the 67th congress. The majority leader will be chosen by caucus prior to the convening of the extra session early in April. There is a strong movement developing for the election of Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, to the position of minority leader. He is a strong and influential man, and is a strong supporter of the Crisp movement.

The movement for Crisp is a strong and influential man, and is a strong supporter of the Crisp movement. He is a strong and influential man, and is a strong supporter of the Crisp movement.

WILL CONDEMN LAND Government to Acquire Tracts in North Georgia.

An order for service on defendants in a condemnation suit against 794.6 acres of land in Fannin and Gilmer counties, which was filed under provisions of the Weeks forestry act, was taken in federal court Wednesday by Gordon M. Combs, assistant district attorney. The case has been set for a preliminary hearing on April 30 before Judge Samuel H. Sibley. The owners of the tract being acquired by the government have agreed to sell, but the property is being condemned because of imperfect title.

The property is now owned by the following: Samuel S. Clark, Allen O. E. and Little Edmondson, Ida and Martha J. Hughes, Johnson, and W. A. Woody. The government is acquiring the forest as part of the Appalachian forest reservation.

MEAT PACKERS REPLY TO BARRETT CHARGES

Association Resents "Lobbying" Charge as Made by Farmers' Union President.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.
Washington, February 23.—(Special.)—The Association of American Meat Packers, which maintains an office in Washington, and is one of various business organizations to which Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, president of the National Farmers' union, recently referred to as "lobbyists," has issued a vigorous reply to Mr. Barrett, deploring "false and unjust attacks made liberally or unknowingly," and defending its own record in attempting to protect itself against "attempts to legislate the industry from the business map of the country."

The statement, in part, follows: "The Institute of American Meat Packers has noted with enthusiastic interest the statement concerning so-called lobbies issued by Charles S. Barrett, president of the organization known as the National Farmers' union, and published widely throughout the United States during the past few days. Barrett takes the presence in Washington of many American business organizations, as evidence that they are maintained for purposes which are contrary to the public interest, and that, forsooth, they should not be here."

The packers' organization in the capital is much more concerned with the promotion of foreign and domestic trade of its members and the solution of problems connected therewith than it is with the congress. Further, Barrett is gravely mistaken in using the word 'lobby' to imply that the packers are engaged in the same kind of lobbying as the members of the congress. The packers are engaged in the same kind of lobbying as the members of the congress. The packers are engaged in the same kind of lobbying as the members of the congress.

321 ARTILLERY COLORS TO BE GIVEN STATE

Adjutant of Regiment Trained at Camp Gordon Will Make Presentation.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.
Washington, February 23.—The colors of the 321st field artillery, one of the artillery regiments of the 2nd division which was organized and trained at Camp Gordon, will be delivered to the state of Georgia by its former captain and adjutant, who will be accompanied by the adjutant general of the army, when delivered to the state of Georgia. The colors will be presented to the 321st, having been received by Battery 1, then commanded by Captain Slatyer, of the 321st, who is at present a special assistant to the adjutant general of the army. Captain Slatyer will resume the practice of law in Georgia, while a Mr. Slatyer, brother of the captain, will be in charge of the colors.

LOT IS OFFERED TO CITY FOR USE AS PUBLIC PARK

City council at its next meeting, will be offered as a gift from the Peters Land company, a large tract of land in close proximity to the Georgia School of Technology, to be used as a public park and playground. The offer will be made through E. C. Peters, president of the company.

The tract comprises several acres located at the intersection of West Third and Fowler streets. It is also bounded by East Fowler and West Fourth streets. The proposed park is excellently located and it is declared that should the tract be accepted and devoted to park and playground purposes, it will be one of the most ideal spots in the city.

The Peters land company has recently begun the improvement of the section of the city lying in proximity to the tract that will be offered the city for park purposes, and it is stated that a residential subdivision of the highest class will be developed. The land offered the city by Mr. Peters is valued at about $25,000.

DR. BLOSSER'S MEDICATED SMOKE DRIVES OUT CATARRH

Pleasant and Easy to Use.

Dr. Blosser is the originator of a certain combination of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries to be smoked in a pipe or ready prepared cigarette which is reputed to have unusual success in catarrhal troubles. The smoke-vapor reaches all the passages of the nose, throat and lungs, and the disease is carried through these passages with the air you breathe, so low antiseptic heating vapor of this remedy is carried with the breath directly to the affected parts.

This simple, practical method applies the medicine where sprays, douches, ointments, etc., cannot possibly go. Its effect is soothing and healing, and is entirely harmless, containing no tobacco, tobacco or habit forming drugs. It is pleasant to use, and not sickening to those who have never smoked. You are a sufferer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or subject to frequent colds, you should try this remedy without delay.

Any well-stocked drug store can supply Dr. Blosser's Remedy cigarettes or powder for smoking in a pipe, or will order it for you. Satisfactory results guaranteed by a genuine money-back offer.

STOMACH TROUBLE AFFECTED HIS HEART

Could hardly breathe. Eats anything now, and does his farm work.

"For years I suffered with indigestion, constipation and accumulation of gas which affected my heart. I could hardly breathe. I lived on raw eggs, toast and bread and hot water, and still suffered. I tried several doctors for three years, but since taking Milks Emulsion I have improved so that I can do my farm work as well as my store work. Can eat most anything; have gained 10 pounds and evergreen, apostrophe how it has helped me."—A. Henley, Rio Vista, Va., R. 1, Box 157.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in restoring and repairing the effects of various diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved. It produces remarkable results in colds, coughs and bronchial asthma.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak and sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions, and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Having Drawn a Bye, Alabama Is Certain to Win Opening Day Game, Is Fuzzy's Belief

BY Fuzzy Woodruff

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, about the time when the citizenry generally is busily engaged in digesting its luncheon, or its dinner, or its snack, according to the state of the body politic, the first basketball game of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association will get under way as the centers of Mercer university and the University of South Carolina tip off. At hourly intervals thereafter combat will be resumed until 11 o'clock is reached, when the athletes will suspend activity with at least seven of the contesting colleges eliminated from further participation in the game.

Mercer and Carolina (which game has been deemed as a Mercer victory, for the very good, but entirely unsatisfactory reason that nobody knows anything of Carolina's prowess), will be succeeded on the court by the University of Kentucky and Tulane university.

Look out for Spill.

Here's another one that may spill the forecasts of those afflicted with a predilection for prognostication. Kentucky, considered a dark horse in the tournament, because anything from Kentucky has to have something about it, is being favored for victory here. However, Tulane's record is not to be sneezed at. The New Orleans institution is not better than an even break with Alabama, and the Crimson isn't supposed to be easily weak after last year's defeat. The experts suspend judgment a bit before casting the olive into complete oblivion.

The 4 o'clock game will be between Furman and the Mississippi Aztecs. This looks like a pretty close one, but the odds are in favor of the Aztecs.

The afternoon's entertainment will be concluded with a 5 o'clock social affair between Tennessee and Mississippi, in which Tennessee is favored simply because the experts in Atlanta haven't kept any tabs on Mississippi and have to favor somebody, or expose their ignorance, which would be a horrible thing to do.

The Nightgame.

The evening's entertainment of the night program, as we say in chaste Georgian, will open at 8 o'clock, with Georgia and Newberry opposed. The Red and Black isn't exactly quaking in its boots about this game. The following hour brings together those ancient enemies, Clemson and Auburn.

Clemson is another team that Georgia has beaten in the past, and can't be extraordinarily strong. However, as Georgia Tech came close to beating Auburn, the game may produce some thrills. The experts are picking Auburn over Clemson because they are accustomed to doing so during the football season.

The one dead clinch of the evening is provided by the 11 o'clock feature, when Alabama needs nobody, which is another name for a golfing person called a Dye. Alabama is expected to win, but the experts expect the Crimson to win.

Anyhow, the stage is all set, as the traditional new year's great event. Workmen are installing the special floor on which the game will be played, and everything is otherwise ready for the referee's whistle, which is the signal, must not, and shall not, be omitted.

UNIVERSITY HIGH DEFEATS GILMER STREET QUINTET

The University High quintet won a very close game from Boys High last night at the Y. M. C. A. by a 26 to 24 score. The game was witnessed by a fair crowd. Both teams were in great shape and a hot battle was the result. The first period was won by Boys High on the short end of a 15 to 9 score.

Things picked up in the last half. With only a few minutes left to play and the Fourteenth street lads eight points in the lead the Purple and Gold team pulled quite a comeback. They cut down this lead to only one point 25 to 24. Laid there, the ball through the hoop from the foul line and the game ended.

BIG COLLEGE MEETING SET FOR FRIDAY

Atlanta, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—The representatives of the various southern colleges interested in the formation of a southern conference, as outlined at the last meeting of the S. I. A. A. in Gainesville, Fla., will assemble here on Friday, February 25. Professor S. V. Sanford, faculty director of athletics at the University of Georgia, was elected chairman of the committee for the formation of a southern conference modeled after the western conference. Professor Sanford announced that the first meeting of the representatives will be held at the Piedmont hotel at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at this meeting the names of the colleges will be announced. The next assembly will be at 8 o'clock Friday night, at which delegates will convene again at 10 o'clock Saturday morning for the final session.

The Georgia School of Technology will be host to the conference delegates at the Hotel Piedmont at 8 o'clock Saturday.

Professor Sanford has received letters from colleges in the south, and all indications point to a full attendance from Maryland to Louisiana.

The objects of the conference will be to bring first year men from participating in intercollegiate athletics, to prevent migration from one college to another, and to abolish professionalism of all kinds in college athletics.

It will be remembered that the one-year rule was introduced at the last meeting of the S. I. A. A. and sponsored by several of the leading southern colleges. It is evident, however, due to the opposition of the smaller colleges of the association, that it has not been adopted. It was then decided by the representatives in 1920 that the conference would embody this and other needed reforms.

The meeting at Atlanta will probably be the formation of one of the southern conferences in the country.

AGOGAS AND DENTISTS WIN GAMES

The Agogas and the Southern Dental College were winners of the basketball game last night at the Y. M. C. A. The Agogas won by a 27 to 23 score.

The game was a very close one. The Agogas led for most of the game, but the Dental College fought back in the second half. The Agogas' defense was excellent, and they were able to keep the Dental College from scoring easily. The Dental College's offense was also good, and they were able to keep the Agogas from scoring easily.

BASS CONVICTED OF WIFE MURDER

Dublin, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—A verdict of guilty was brought in at 6:50 o'clock tonight by the jury which heard the case of Marshall Bass, who killed his wife several months ago in the road near Dublin. He pleaded accidental shooting. Formal application was made for a new trial immediately by counsel, and this will be heard March 24.

Late this afternoon the case went to the jury, after having consumed virtually the entire afternoon and a portion of the morning in the superior court. John R. Cooper, counsel for the defense, made the closing argument. No witnesses were put up by the defense.

Bass made a statement in which he said the shooting was accidental. According to him, he was going with his wife to a neighbor's house, where she was to stay, while he came to Dublin on business. He had his gun with him, and his 5-year-old son got hold of it.

In taking it out of the boy's hand the gun was accidentally fired, and the load entered Mrs. Bass' body, causing death in a short time. He states he ran off to get help and, finding no one near, started for a doctor. He said he was on the river bridge, and told him he had shot his wife accidentally, and was going for a doctor.

Mrs. Bass made a dying statement to her physician, Dr. W. R. Brigham, while she was on the operating table, about thirty minutes before she died. Dr. Brigham testified that she said Bass shot her because he was mad when he went to see her father. Efforts of the defense to have this statement ruled out, failed.

Testifies Upon Shooting.
Another witness, Mrs. Sheffield, swore that she saw Bass shoot his wife the first time, while they were in the road near the house where she was living. Just before he shot her, she saw him strike her with his fist, she testified, and heard her call out, "Minnie see you." She was carrying a baby in her arms. It was testified, and her small boy, about four or five years of age, was also with her. The witness stated, Bass fired a second time, after the woman was down, and then stooped over her a few moments, the witness claimed.

He then ran toward the house where Mrs. Sheffield was, where he was prevented from entering and he then turned and ran across the field, according to the testimony. Mrs. Sheffield, in front of whose home the shooting occurred, stated that she did not see the actual shooting, but just a minute or two before it happened, heard Bass curse his wife and say he would kill her.

Hendersonville Citizens Visit Atlanta Monday.

Hendersonville, N. C. is working to secure the R. O. T. C. summer camp of the fourth area of the United States army, and the invitation will be presented to General Morrison, commanding the fourth area, with headquarters at Fort McPherson, by a delegation of citizens from Hendersonville, who will reach Atlanta next Monday. The delegation has to offer, it is said, several beautiful tracts of land suitable for a summer camp, with lakes for rowing, fishing and swimming.

In addition to their visit to General Morrison they will be luncheon guests Monday at the Georgia Mill.

FIGHT ON BUDGET SYSTEMS PLANNED BY REPUBLICANS

Alex W. Smith, of Atlanta, Georgia chairman of the national budget committee, has received a telegram from John T. Pratt, national chairman, in which it is stated that an effort will be made by the republicans in congress to go back to the old method of dividing appropriations among several committees, and in which he is urged to use all his influence in preventing such a step.

"Have positive information," the telegram reads, "that at republican caucus, February 28, an attempt will be made to go back to the old method of dividing appropriations among several committees. Many congressmen do not sincerely desire budget system. Now is the time to do real work in every state to prevent this national calamity. Chairman Good will stand firm against it in house, but will be overcome unless our committee members get solidly behind him."
